You just woke up and first thing you are thinking is checking your mobile.

Looking your social media accounts.

Like pictures, spending your time for watching and sometimes reading. Then probably you are running for something. Your school or your job and you need to be fast because we don't have any time. When everything is changing so fast how you can be slow down yourself? It sounds difficult if you are just a small fish in the stream.

Let's think about clothing and fashion; before 2014, we had only spring/summer and fall/winter seasons but now we have 52 'micro seasons' per year and cheap clothing sector is growing each day more. New trends are coming out every week and we are just buying as much as possible without thinking! What we mean is not only cheap and child labour behind it but also your own health with synthetic or petroleum based fibers in your clothes.

About food, we do not know or think how to use our extra leftovers and simply putting it in trash. Let's think bigger what big restaurants or markets are doing with products they could not sell? Imagine, quantity of wasted foods every day. We touch our computer screens or mobile phones more than we touch soil. Most young people are already forgetting what it means spending time in nature. We have hundreds of plastic products in our super markets and consuming foods from plastics, drinking beverages and sometimes filling again and use our plastic bottles several times without knowing how it can be side effect to our body. We, as Europeans, should know more about sustainable development and support environmental protection for future generations. Individually, we can each develop simple habits to become more sustainable in our own lives. For these reasons, we want to share our knowledge, encourage and inspire sustainable working practices in young people's daily life. And now, a little bit about the planned activities:

- Plant 6 trees during project time as a project activity.
- Learn how to use recycled materials: earth balls, grass man & seeds pen.
- Promote to reuse attitudes like reuse your T-shirt for sustainability promotion.
- To create a video on YouTube (“How to support sustainability in our daily life?”), based on our personal experience by the project.
- Role plays & debates, games to know each other's and create a good group relations, creation of earth balls, intercultural nights.
